Reflections

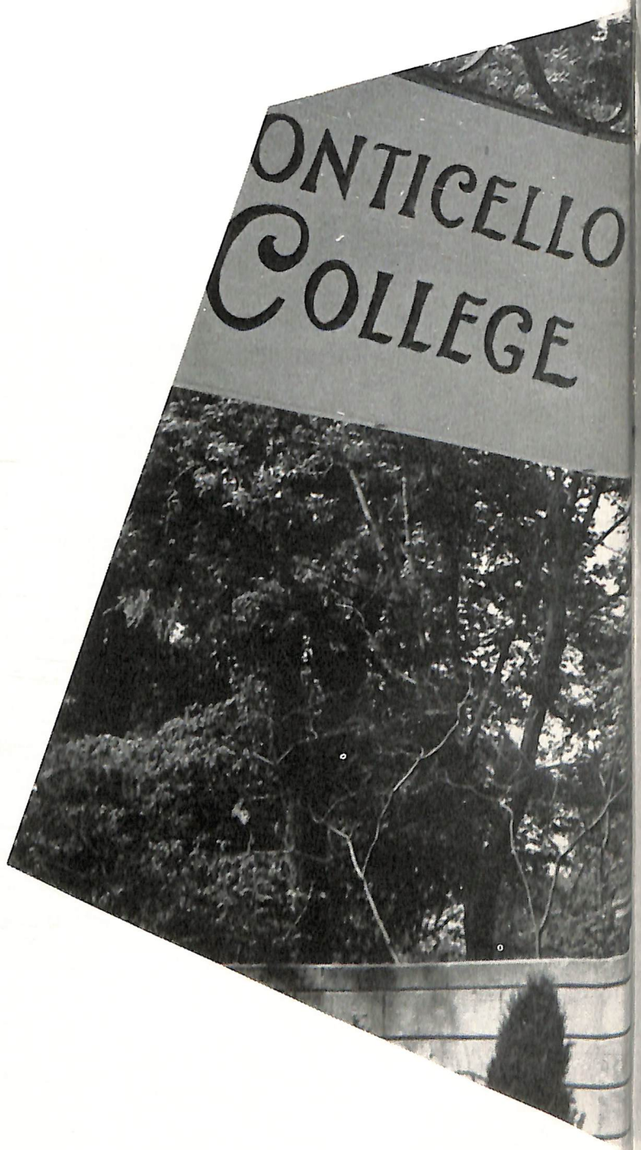
"The world is a looking glass, and gives back to every man the reflection of his own face. Frown at it, and it in turn will frown with you; laugh at it and with it, and it is a jolly, kind companion."



Dedication --

Because . .

. . . . there is deep devotion and lasting loyalty in every home where love abides;

. . . . we have gained from our homes and families a set of values which were reflected in our deeds at Monticello;

. . . . we cannot forget that what we do reflects upon our home and family;

. . . . much of what we are and what we will be reflects that which our families have given us;

We Dedicate . .

. . . . to our HOMES and FAMILIES, with deep appreciation, unmatched pride, and heart-felt love, this 1956 ECHO.

"The voice of parents is the voice of gods, for to their children they are heaven's lieutenants."

THE STAFF

IDEALS

With hearts aware of beauty, loyalty, and dignity, minds ever striving for wisdom and democracy, and willing hands to offer service and friendship to all, the seven girls pictured on these pages have been chosen from the class of 1956 by vote of their classmates to represent these seven ideals of Monticello.

DEMOCRACY . . . .

Anne Miller

The truly democratic person interests herself in the activities of others. She seeks to understand and respect the ideals and beliefs of her associates while maintaining her own independence of thought and action.

DIGNITY . . . .

Martha Morrow Rice

This is a quality of reserve which comes with emotional, intellectual, and social maturity. Dignity is always reflected in the recognition of the fitness of things and in the poise and self-confidence with which one places one's self above that which might be considered unseemly.

LOYALTY . . . .

Anna Frances Wilson

One of the most important of the Monticello Ideals is a loyalty to the college, one's friends, one's family, and one's beliefs. This deep-seated emotion will grow through understanding, respect, and love.

BEAUTY . . . .

Nancy Lee Cooper

Within each girl is the power to recognize and appreciate the beauty of everyday experiences. Life is filled with beauty if one is sensitive to it, and eager to find it; if one's eyes are trained to see, one's ears to hear, one's heart to understand, and one's mind to remember.

FRIENDSHIP . . . .

Dodie Rhoades

Many of your most cherished and lasting friendships will be made while you are at Monticello. Your college days will afford rich opportunities for making a wide circle of friends. In true friendship there is dignity, loyalty, service, democracy, beauty, and never-failing consideration.

SERVICE . . . .

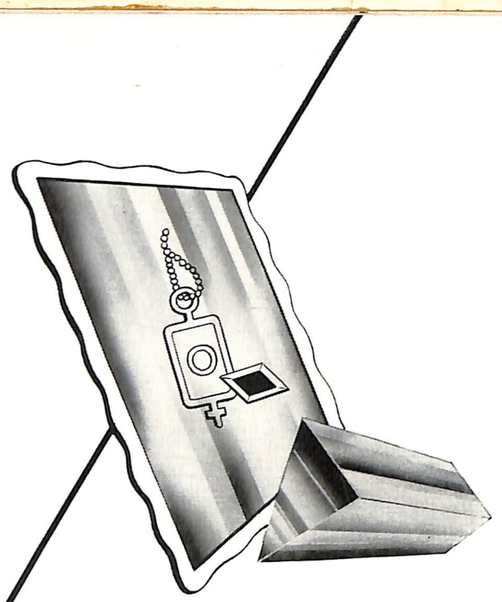
Patricia Thompson

Each of us has a distinctive personality and unique talents. The Monticello girl considers it not only a privilege but a responsibility to share her gifts with all, thereby helping herself and others to develop to the fullest measure.

WISDOM . . . .

Bonnie Rollins

As the Monticello girl grows in academic stature, she seeks to increase her ability to apply her knowledge usefully, for wisdom is the union of knowledge and understanding.



Student Life

How well a Monti bracelet or pendant calls to the mind of the wearer memories of Monticello — Fountain Court, back campus, the chapel, Grand Central, class rooms.

This campus life section REFLECTS the lives of the students during the past year, both in school and in extra-curricular activities.

Our personalities, as we leave Monti, are a REFLECTION of some of the experiences that we have had here.

Introductions! First we met our respective housemothers.

As we arrived at Monticello, a host of friends were here to greet us. Surrounded by a friendly atmosphere, we were soon assured that the days before us would be full of pleasant experiences. How right we were as the following pages portray!

Soon the new lockers were initiated.

As We Arrived

From the first week at Monti, Grand Central became the center of activities.

The Word Stranger Soon Disappeared

Boxes, suitcases, trunks, and stuffed animals bombarded Fountain Court. How will we ever get them home?

After a few short weeks we developed a loyalty for our own dorms.

Our loyalty spread to the faculty as we saw their friendliness. They even visited us in our dorms.

Getting to Know Each Other

Although a few of us were energetic enough to climb down to the Mississippi from La Vista, others were content to enjoy the shade.

The conversation changed from, "Glad to meet you," to, "Anyone have a dime?"

As the Leaves Turned So Did . . .

At Monticello most classes are small and informal. Teachers are always willing to stay an extra hour to make certain that we understand the conjugation of amor or the characteristics of the Phylum Cordata.

"Friday is here at last."

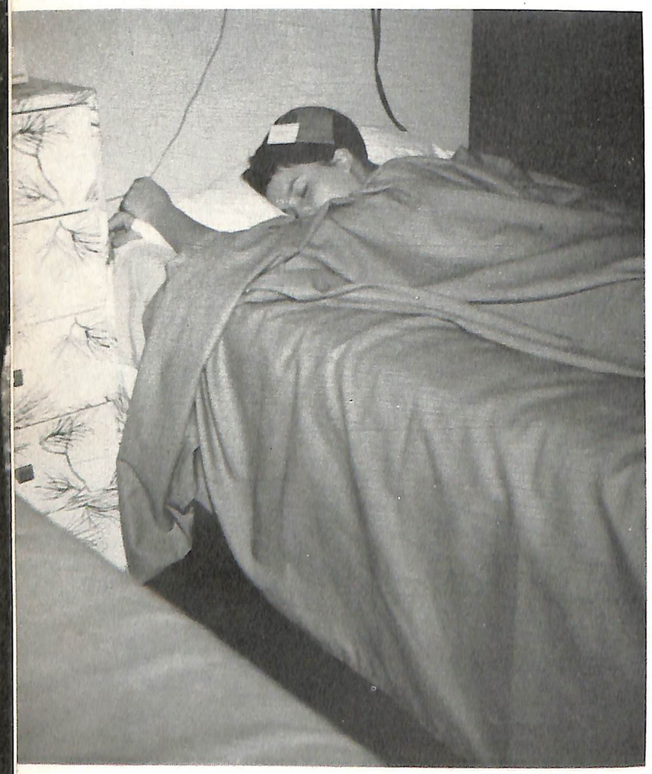
"Look, Ma, we really studied!"

Dr. Chacharonis thought we would never learn to use the microscopes!

The Pages of Our Books

"Don't be silly, I'm not on Heavenly Eleven!" No, not much they weren't.

What Fun . . . Junior-Senior Week . . .



"Button, Frosh!" Will we ever forget that cry? or the Seniors' names? or the chain gang? or the Backwards Lunch? It was fun and part of the Monticello traditions which we all love.

Were we really that loyal?

We had the first big variety show of the year when the Seniors entertained(?) at the end of the week.

We liked our teachers so much!

Captain Godfrey lived again during the week.

Must have worked a little too hard.

Day By Day . . .

"Whose birthday is this week?"

Friendships at Monticello grew deeper as each day brought new experiences. From our classes to a quick game of bridge after lunch, we discovered many wonderful qualities in our new friends. As the days progressed, we realized that these friendships will be neither broken nor forgotten when the year is over.

We became good friends with the faculty and administration.

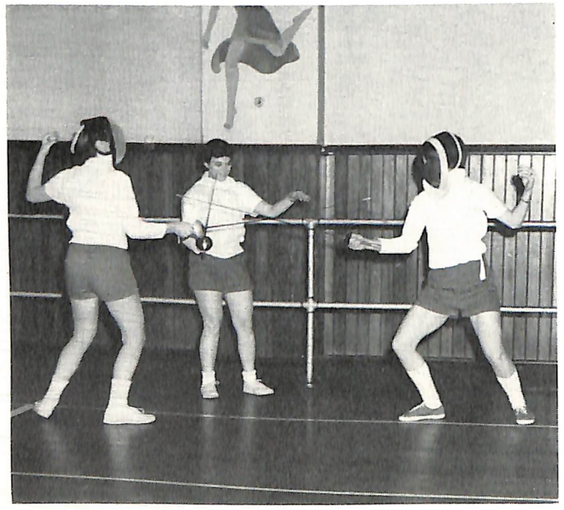
There was always the trip to the cabin. The boys liked it there too.

Chapel on Tuesday and Friday was a welcome time of quiet in a busy day.

Most of all we remember the fun we had in the smoker. There we played cards, read our mail, and held gab sessions in which we almost solved the problems of the world.

4:00 P.M. and Voluntary Sports Began . . .

How many times we bicycled to Godfrey to mail a package.

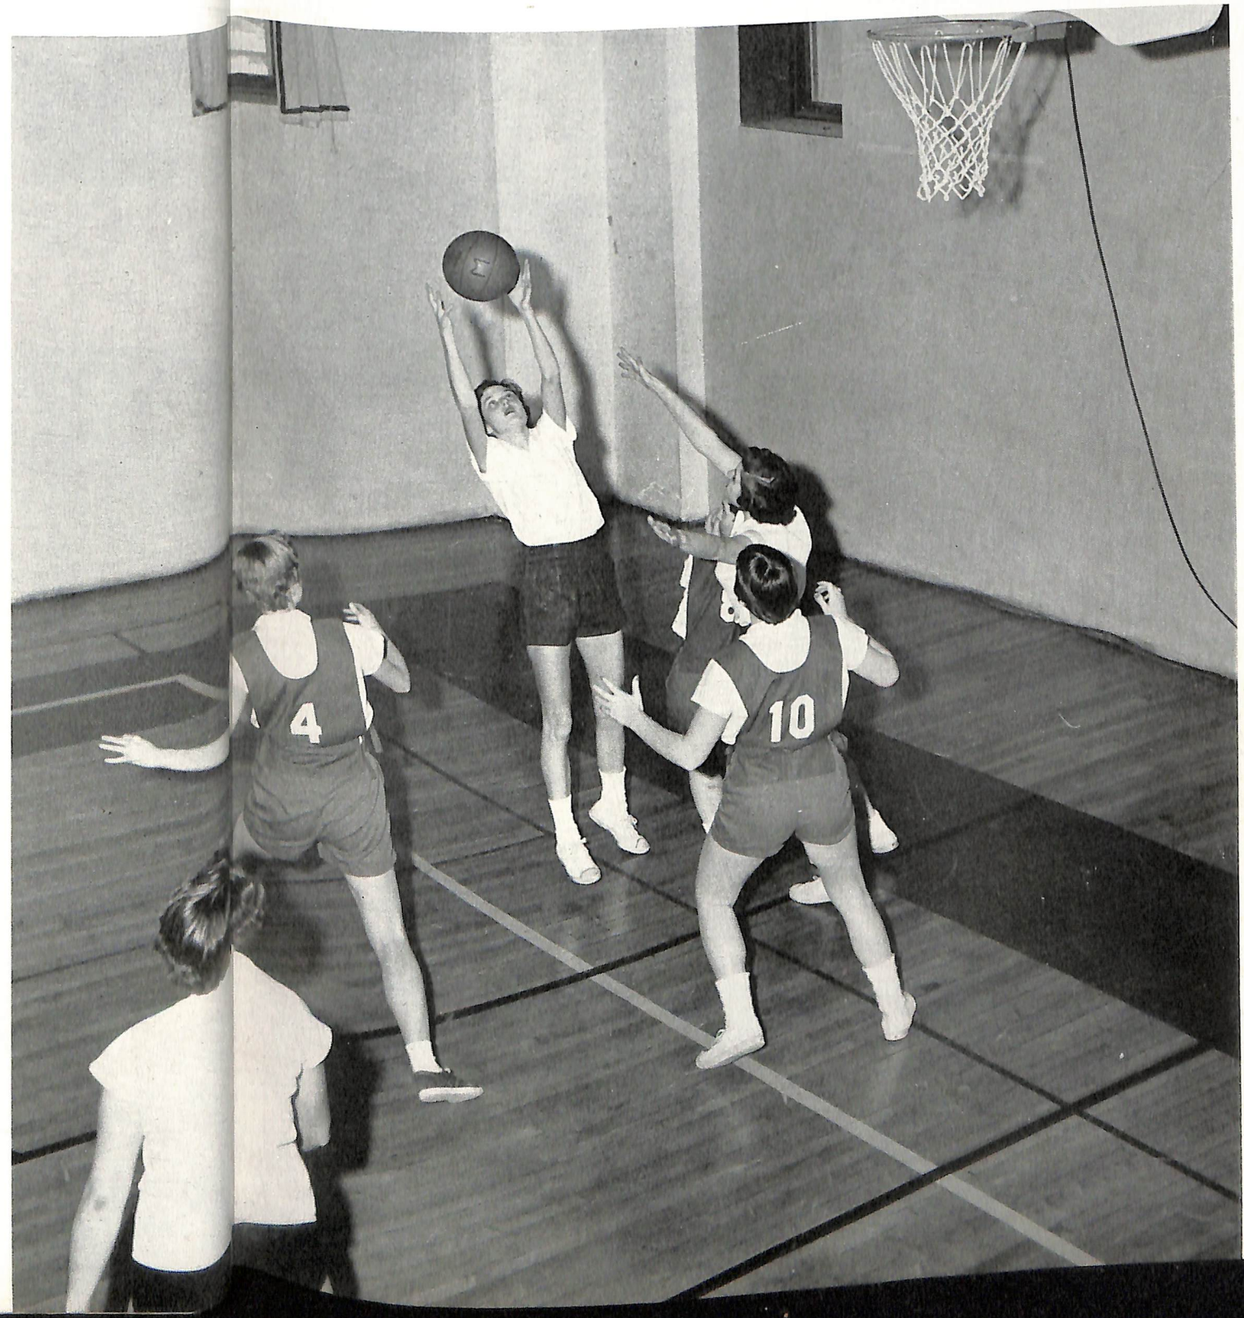


Our fencing wasn't movie-style but we had fun.

The pool was a favorite spot after a few hours of studying. The beautiful water pageant was the result of many hours of work.

The sports department was one of the strongest in the school this year. At 4:00 the dorms became quiet as we took advantage of a free hour to work off some energy. There was as much excitement over an intramural event as there was over a contest with nearby colleges.

"On your mark"



In a series of games, the College Varsity finally beat the Preps.

Christmas Spirit and Good Will Abound . . .

. . . . . as Monticello "decked the halls with boughs of holly." The entire week before vacation began was lost to Christmas activities. Somehow we just could not seem to study (try as we did!) And then the last night came and our spirits exploded!

We had all sorts of dolls.

"Yes, Santa, I've been a good girl."

Santa appeared all over the school that night.

It was at the Doll Dinner that the true Christmas spirit of giving glowed within us all.

Santa was good to Monti at the formal.

All children enjoy Christmas, Monti's included.

Back to Monti Life and Those . . .

Some people couldn't seem to resist the temptation.

Monti glistened in a Winter Wonderland.

From variety shows to banquets, our favorite numbers were selections sung by the Senior Triple Trio.

Blue Books!

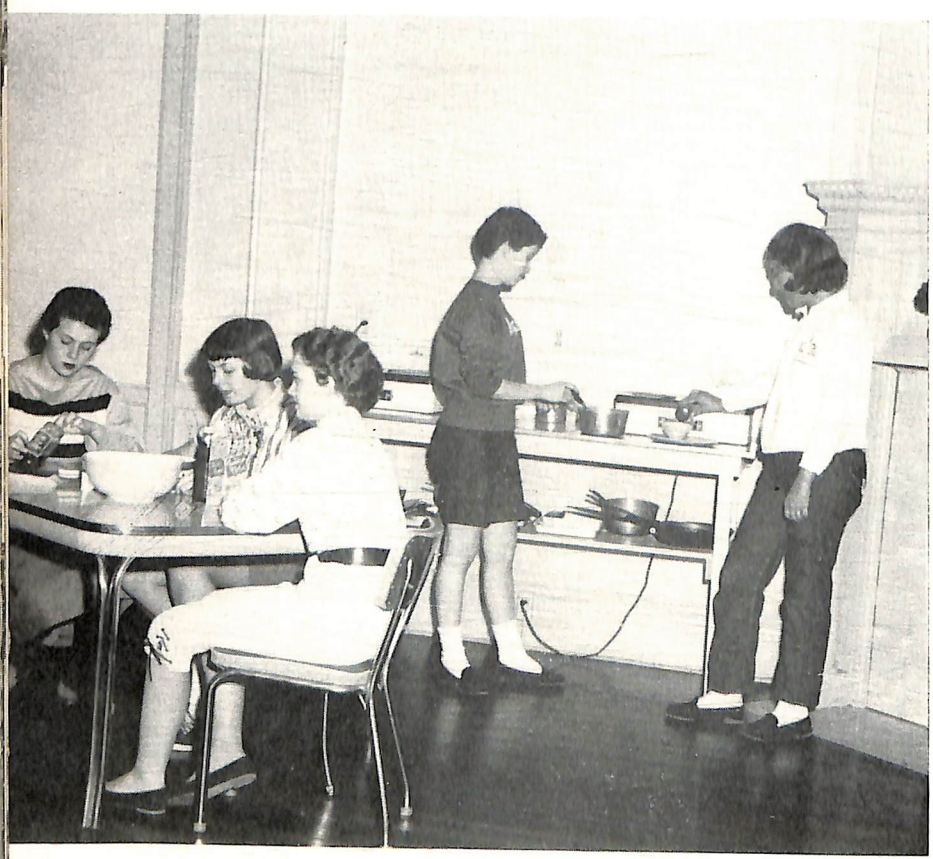
The library became a busy place as finals drew near.

Dusty would listen to any problem, be it academic or personal.

Forgetting the books for a moment, we took time for a short game of bridge.

The weather man surprised us with a warm day in the middle of February.

Lots of Food and Fun



We all felt domestic once in a while, and the kitchenette provided a perfect spot for experimenting with our cooking skills.

What would we have done without the coffee machine?

Guys Added Spice to Monti Life

The Western Military Academy chose their favorite Prep, Nancy Scott, to be the Honorary Cadet of their Military Ball. With her are seen Nancy Simms and Judy Harvey.

Dates for St. Louis.

For special occasions we brought out our formals.

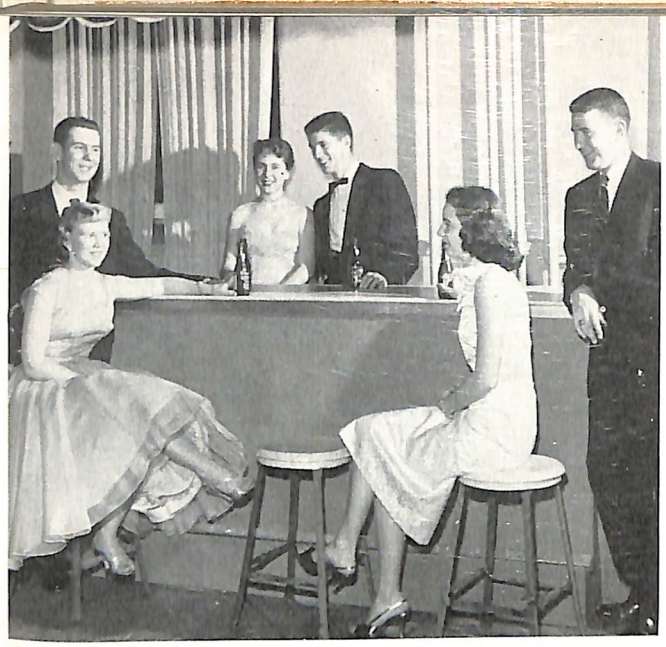
Seniors Applauded As The Juniors Presented The G. W. B.-----

G. W. B. is over for another year but the memory lingers on. For the Juniors that memory is of hard work and of fun, of secrets from the Seniors, and of the close unity gained which made the Juniors a true class of Monticello.

The theme of the event was "BETWEEN THE BOOKENDS." One of the favorite decorations was the Grand Central bulletin boards which featured a baby picture of each Senior. In a southern plantation atmosphere at the banquet the Junior class officers were announced. What excitement!

After the banquet, the dance! Wasn't it fun to meet so many of the girls' special beaux?

The floor show at the dance was entertaining and provided a nice beginning to the perfect evening.



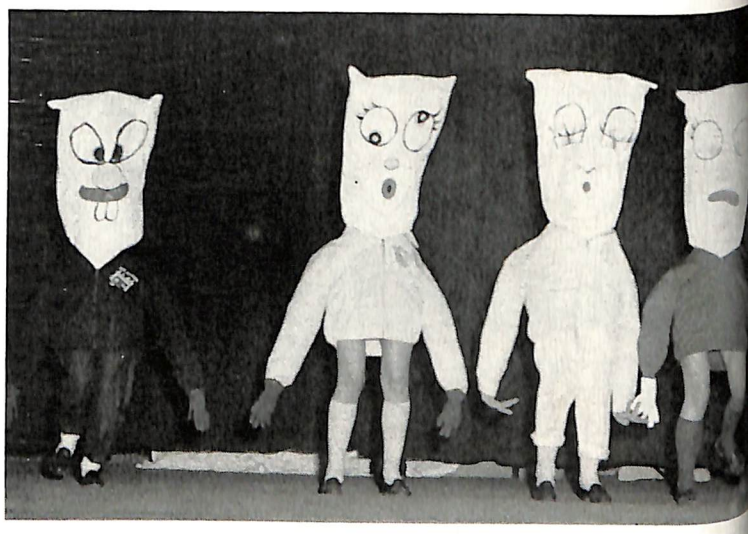
The smoker was converted into a teenager's paradise — "Seventeen."

When our feet were too tired for another dance, we relaxed in the smoker.

The speeches at the banquet covered subject matter close to the heart of every Monti girl.

The Roaring Twenties live again.

These are our teachers?



"Sweethearts!"

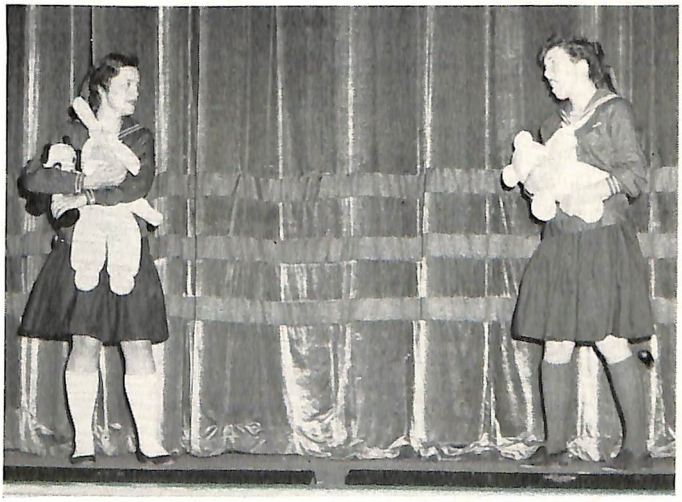
Some Were Dramatic But

The Faculty Variety Show was received with great enthusiasm. We knew our faculty had brains but after their production we were convinced that they are the best all-round teachers to be found! Actors and audience alike had a grand time and the audience voiced their desire to make it an annual event.

With the plotting of the hero and the hissing of the villain we were entranced with the Prep melodrama, "Pure as the Driven Snow."

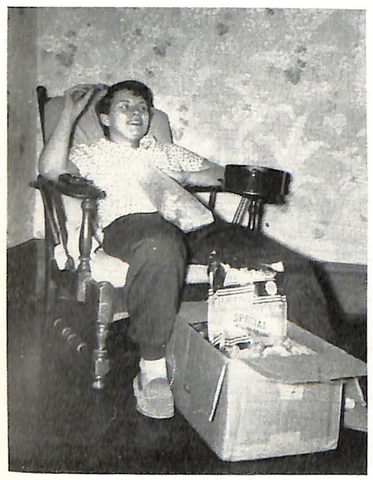
We All Had Fun - - -

The ones with more serious acting talents turned to the dramatic productions on campus. The children's play before Christmas was the popular presentation of "Rumplestilskin." The Preps shared their talents in a two act play, "Mrs. McThing." Later in the year we all joined the fun of variety shows for the Alums, Dads, and Little Sisters.



They are almost twenty-two?

Dorm Life Was Never Boring....



Wonder how long that box lasted?

Frills for thrills

The antiques in the Alum Room fascinated us as we thought of Monti in the 90's.

Did we do anything but play cards?

We made ourselves beautiful for spring vacation.

Preps gathered to relax in Haskell's living room.

"What's the scoop?"

We have beautiful tans

Spring Fever and Farewells Lead To

Class Day in June is the perfect climax to a year full of the most memorable experiences.

Out for some fresh air and some last minute confidences between friends soon to part.

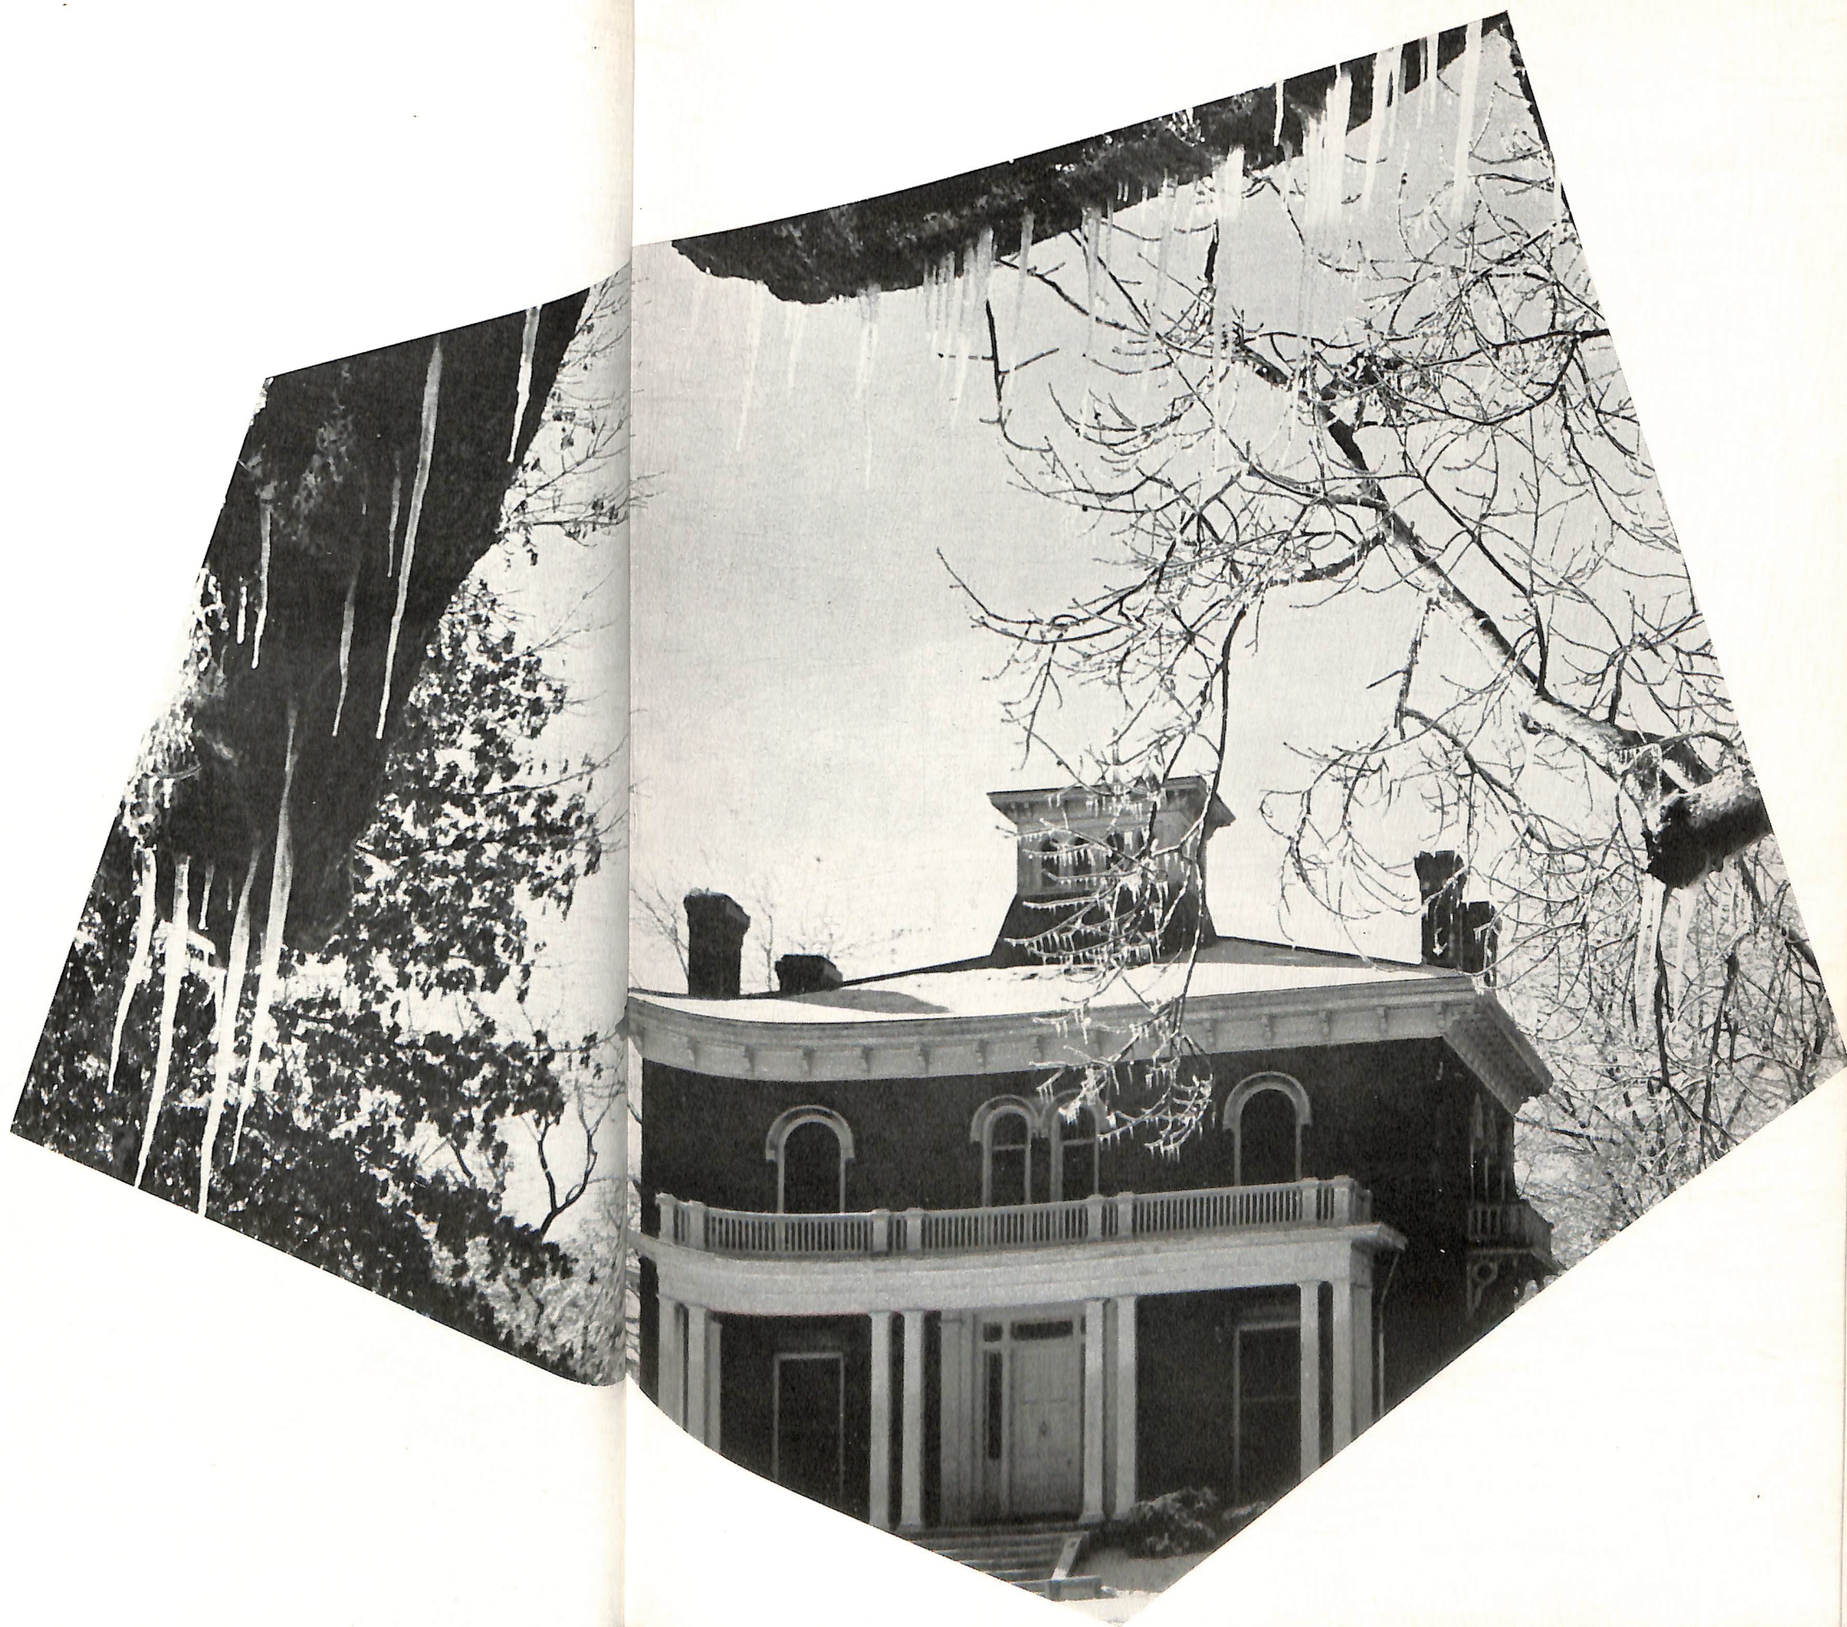
Faculty

The open book and quill symbolize knowledge. Stimulating students in their love and pursuit of knowledge has been one of the achievements of the Monticello faculty.

By competent instruction, careful guidance, and close friendship, each member of the faculty helps the students to achieve their goals. Each student's future life will REFLECT the friendships she has shared with her teachers.



RUSSELL T. SHARPE

B. S. Harvard College

Ph. D. Stanford University

TO THE CLASSES OF 1956:

I am happy to have this opportunity to extend to the graduating classes of Monticello College and Monticello Preparatory School my congratulations upon your splendid contributions to life at Monticello. You have not only grown in wisdom yourselves; but you have advanced the standards of the school, opened new vistas for the students who will follow you, and upheld the finest traditions of your predecessors.

The real test of Monticello's influence upon you must await the passing of time. If your years at Monticello have been instrumental in changing your attitudes and behavior in a socially desirable direction (and this, it seems to me, is the true function of education), the way in which you serve your family, your community, your nation and your school will, in the years ahead, be the real measure of what you have learned at Monticello.

The faculty and staff are confident that you will meet this test with distinction and that your lives will bring further honors to the school which has had the privilege of helping to prepare you for your complex role in American society. We all extend to you our most affectionate and best wishes as you leave Monticello and join the long line of alumnae whose first members graduated nearly a century and a quarter ago. We know you will be worthy of your heritage.

Classes

As we recall our days at Monticello, one of our first memories is of our black and gold beanies. Through Junior-Senior Week and George Washington's Ball, we learned to appreciate the traditions and to uphold the Ideals of our College. With the recognition of our classes, we felt we had become a definite part of Monticello. We know we will not be forgotten when we receive our diplomas at commencement.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is the governing body of the student association, which consists of all Monticello students. It is this council that carries out the democratic spirit which is needed to complete the link between the administration and the student body. The duty of this council is to give official expression to the opinions and ideas of the students and to offer solutions to problems pertaining to school life.

The four major officers of the Student Council are chosen by the entire student body. The board is comprised of the heads of the major organizations, including class presidents, house chairmen, MCA and MAA presidents, sponsor chairmen, social chairmen, and the editors of the student publications.

The faculty advisor for this governing board is Mrs. Florence Duree.

ECHO STAFF

Starting to work on the yearbook in the early fall, the Echo staff by the end of school is ready to present to the student body a lasting record of the lively beat of Monticello life. Serving as advisor to this staff is Miss Marthaine Brown.

'Tis echo of all those rarest joys
Which come but once with no grief-alloys
An echo of old Monticello life
Then—of broader fields and a fiercer strife.'
